Garcia barred from leaving

EXTERIOR Secretary Raul Gonzales yesterday ordered the issuance of passports to his son, Gen. Carlos Garcia and his family from leaving the country.

Gonzales said he issued a hold departure order on Garcia, his wife Gloria, and their sons Jan Carl, Juan Paolo and Timothy Mark on the request of the Outletsman's Office of the Special Prosecutor, and "in the public and national interest."

He said the Department of Justice filed "urgent case" to issue the hold-departure order "to ensure that Garcia's presence in the court and criminal proceedings is immediately accomplished for the sake of justice."

Gonzales also stated that the Outletsman had filed a habeas corpus case against the Garcia family the South division of the Sandiganbayan. Philip C. Ibañeta

No tug-of-war over Garcia case

By Gregorio A. Dela Cruz

It is reasonable to assume that Garcia had no appeal in court for fearings or the threat of his escape from detention.

But according to Senate Majority Leader Francis Pangilinan, President Macapagal-Arroyo "must order the AFP to take Garcia away to the Sandiganbayan."

He wanted the military against "muddling and giving professional treatment" to Garcia, saying the AFP must "not share the law" and should allow Utrana to take custody of Garcia. "How can the law be done as late and killed when we give special treatment to certain members of society? The Utrana boys club is not the common perception that if you are powerful and well-placed, you get special perks even if you have a pending case," Pangilinan said yesterday in a statement.

Deprived of liberty

Meanwhile, lawmakers pointed out that Garcia was "already accused by the AFP and remains in military custody to undergo a general investigation and trial."

"[Garcia] is incarcerated in custody, and this is a lawful deprivation of his liberty under existing law," Pangilinan said. "He is not a military man, and he is not a military man."

"If the Sandiganbayan directs the AFP to surrender custody over Garcia, the AFP will promptly comply."

Pangilinan added that whether Garcia was in the custody of the military or of the civil government, he will continue to face charges before both the military court and the Sandiganbayan, and his arrest, arrest or all hearings will be resumed.

He said the AFP would "strictly follow" whatever the GARCIA: Professional treatment?

Sandiganbayan would decide on the custody of Garcia.

The Sandiganbayan has issued three arrest warrants on Garcia. The third, issued by Associate Justice Antonio Leviste Jr. de Vitoria on the first division, was issued yesterday at 1:30 p.m.

Gonzales told reporters that he had given the document to the general.

"This is his son, Mr. lawyer will take care of it,"

Garcia is facing four charges of prepay and also court martial for violation of Article of the Revised Penal Code.

Met a bad time

His public appearance earlier yesterday. Outletsman Antonio Mares said his office was awaiting the military report of the Sandiganbayan for permission to keep custody of Garcia and prevent him from leaving during hearings.

If he is required to leave, the Office of the Outletsman will file a motion for the military to produce Garcia and then have custody to the Sandiganbayan court should the Court of Appeals grant his wish to be released from his quarters which he entered on Nov. 18, Mares said.

Mares said it was important for the Sandiganbayan to establish who exactly has jurisdiction over Garcia to ensure his presence in hearings, as well as proper responsibility in the event of his escape.

He said the court also decided to take "the best interest" of Garcia. Nevertheless, Mares said, keeping Garcia in military custody was not a bad idea because there would be more people watching him.

A legal officer of the Sandiganbayan earlier explained that under "control procedures," Garcia will be brought before the third division's clerk of court for "processing" and for posting bail.

It is at this point that his lawyer and the government will be able to.

What bonus? . . .

and used to finance our children's education," this was the reaction of the Confederation for the Unions, Management and Advancement of Government Employees (CUMAGE) to the Department of Budget and Management's announcement of the recent release of a P9.3 billion fund for government employee pension benefits.

"As far as the economic realities of government employees are concerned, the traditional pension bonus and cash gift has been long spent years before it is received. The 14th month pay has been cut off for some," said CUMAGE in a statement.

P1,800 increase, phase

The group said it would have been reasonable to be happy if the government found a way to grant the P1,800 across-the-board increase Congress has been demanding.

"It would have made a difference if it is not dominated by a salary increase. The pension bonus would only give [the] benefit for government workers and not come from the pocket straight to the money basket and lost efforts," CUMAGE said.

"With a monthly salary of P5,000 and the price of a 100-watt light bulb increasing from P100 in 2000 to P400 this month, how does the government expect a salary increase to survive?" CUMAGE said.

"Not alone everything has gone up, fuel, electricity, transportation, water and even the price of basic goods and services has not remained," the employer group said.

Last pay hike in 2000

The last time government workers received a raise was in 2000, when the last pay which then stood at P4,500 was raised by five per cent to P4,725.

Nov. 24 rally

CUMAGE national president Pedro Canto announced that government employees are set to hold their biggest rally this coming Nov. 24 in Manila.

"We will bring to Malacanang's attention all our issues—pay hike demand, the cost of COED PCM (Philippines) fees, opposition to the rationalization plan, quality of office, transportation, protection and other forms of lay off," Canto said.

No moral authority

"As the sole employee of the biggest bank, first, this government has become bereft of any moral authority given the way it treats its workers," he added.

A boy scout's honor

AT A TIME when the Filipinos' trust in the sincerity of government officials seems to be fading, at a time when people are losing hope in the country's future because of irregularities in high places, we feel honored to know that Ombudsman Simeon Marcelo is thinking of tapping the services of the boys and girls in the scout movement to fight graft and corruption. (PDI, 10/25/04)

The good Ombudsman is moving toward the right direction. Just recently, hundreds of boy scouts and girl scouts worked side by side with the Department of Education and other civic organizations in checking the quantity of the textbooks delivered to different public schools in different parts of the country. These boys and girls, assisted by their scoutmasters, counted each book and made sure that they were delivered in good reading condition and on time.

Truly, the Boy Scouts of the Philippines is humbled to hear this heartening news, which gives credit to the countless men and women who labor hard to provide non-formal education to the boys in their formative years, teaching them the art of discipline through play and brotherhood, and inculcating in them the moral values of the scout movement.

The first point of the Scout law says "A Scout is trustworthy," an edict that seems to have been forgotten by many of our countrymen. A boy who grows up in scouting learns to follow this rule from his mentor, who nurtures him and moulds his character so that he will become a useful citizen and a conscientious leader in the future.

Scouting history is replete with stories of self-sacrifice and heroism, and of loyalty and service to country and people. From time to time, we hear people suggesting that scouting can be used as a catalyst for change and as a partner of our government in nation-building.

For 68 years, we have tried to make our presence felt in every home, in every school, in every community and in the world. Over the years, we have been helping the government in various programs and projects benefiting the community.

Many scouts have offered their lives in times of war and peace. Many of them served without thought of any reward. They served not because they were told, but because they made this promise: "On my honor, I will do my best," for God and country. In their young and uncorrupted minds, service was a way of life; they did not seek any reward but self-fulfillment.

But although we take pride in every word of praise heaped upon the movement and our members, we are saddened to note that the good Ombudsman can no longer trust the people we elected to take care of our country. If the Ombudsman deems us worthy of the trust, we are ready to accept his challenge for the Boy Scouts of the Philippines, an organization of young boys, to take an active part in the fight against corruption.

'Jueteng' as tool for prosperity?

MUCH has been said about jueteng. Almost every day we hear or read about it on radio and in newspapers.

The Catholic Church seems to be divided on the issue. One bishop favors its legalization.

Much of the opposition stems from their belief that jueteng, or any form of gambling for that matter, offers the people, especially the poor, a false sense of hope and could in fact drive them deeper into poverty.

If we could turn jueteng from just being a form of gambling to a more productive endeavor which could uplift the lives of the poor, we might yet convince the Church to drop its opposition to the legalization of jueteng.

At this point, I would like to weigh in my two cents' worth of suggestions:

Let Congress legalize jueteng. The Philippine Charity and Sweepstakes Office or another body to be created by Congress shall be tasked to run its operations. Part of the proceeds or the "tax" from jueteng will be used for operational expenses. The rest of the money, after deducting the winnings, will be channeled to a foundation (either existing or created by Congress). The board of trustees of the foundation shall be composed of persons of proven integrity and probity. The Church, Department of Social Welfare and Development, and the Poverty Alleviation

Commission shall have representatives in the board.

The foundation shall be tasked to identify, in coordination with the DSWD and civic organizations in a locality, the needs of the people in that particular locality. For example, in Pampanga where jueteng is believed to be active, the needs of the poor starting with the poorest barangay shall be identified by the foundation. These needs may be in the form of lack of potable water, lack of classrooms, scholarships for poor but deserving students, lack of text books, lack of roads, livelihood projects, health centers, etc. The proceeds from jueteng in Pampanga shall be used solely to address the needs of the people in Pampanga. In other words, use the people's own money to improve their lives. In the process of addressing the needs of the people in the area (the lack of classrooms, etc.), jobs will also be generated.

The operation of the foundation shall be subject to audit by a reputable auditing company. Twice a year, the foundation shall publish in newspapers their accomplishments.

If these suggestions are done, jueteng will cease to be a form of gambling; it will become an instrument for improving the lives of the poor.

Headed toward another martial rule?

THE CONSTITUTION provides that civilian authority is, at all times, supreme over the military. The Armed Forces of the Philippines is the protector of the people and the state.

Is civilian authority still supreme over the military or are we slowly militarizing civil government? Does the AFP really protect the people when retired generals are appointed to key government posts? Must the House inquiry into military corruption be muzzled? These are ponderous questions for President Macapagal-Arroyo.

Historically, our military is almost always able to get what it wants.

During the time of President Ramon Magsaysay, the sudden increase in the number of Huk attacks before budgetary hearings enabled the military to ask for huge allocations, hence, the term "budgetary Huks."

During President Marcos' martial law years, the military reigned supreme. What a blow it must have been to career military professionals when a driver-relative of Marcos was designated AFP chief of staff. Protectors became predators. Their esprit de corps sadly speaks of the inability of the military—including graduates from the Philippine Military Academy—to cleanse its ranks.

The tenure of another military leader, President Fidel Ramos, seems to continue through the administration of President Arroyo which relies heavily on retired generals. Gen. Angelo Reyes, AFP chief of staff of President Joseph Estrada, became Ms Arroyo's defense secretary and now heads the Department of Interior and Local Government, a traditionally civilian enclave. He personified military arrogance before the House committee investigating military corruption. Retired generals abound in the Arroyo administration. Even the post of the executive secretary, the gateway to the Office of the President, is occupied by a military man. Are there no capable civilian officials or are we hostage to a military mind-set?

Many thinking citizens now suspect that the peace and order problems of our country will always be with us simply because the Moro National Liberation Front, the Moro Islamic Liberation Front, the Abu Sayyaf and the New People's Army are convenient pawns in the "game of the generals." Without the insurgents, military participation in civil governance will become unnecessary.

Is it not embarrassing that it takes the United States to expose corruption in the military? Do we still have some gutsy leaders who can restore civilian supremacy over the military? Will the AFP top brass protect the people instead of manipulating them? Are we headed toward another martial regime?

We do not provoke the police

WE, of the Kilusang Magbubukid ng Pilipinas, would like to clarify some points in Conrado de Quiros' Oct. 26 column.

First, the police did indeed try to disperse our rally at the Welcome Rotunda last Oct. 21, but they were not successful in doing so. We were able to start and end our program peacefully despite police attempts to provoke a fight that would have scuttled the rally. It seems that their plan was to sow chaos to divert the issue from the rightful demands of peasants for land and food, and for President Macapagal-Arroyo's ouster.

Second, as a matter of policy, we do not provoked the police; some pseudo-progressive groups may do that, but not us.

Our "March Against Landlessness, Hunger and Poverty" is a testament to the growing isolation of the Arroyo administration from the masses, particularly the peasantry that comprises 75 percent of the population. Indeed, the people are getting restive with the continuing deterioration of their livelihood, and the Arroyo administration is only aggravating it.

Camarines folk to get 10,000 food coupons

PILI. Camarines Sur—Amid the rising increase of prices of basic necessities, the government agencies here, joined in the Arroyo administration's program for the poor, the Kabisal, are to start distributing 10,000 food coupons to the same number of poor families in the province this month.

Camarines Sur is among the five provinces the Arroyo administration identified for the initial implementation of the program to supplement the daily subsistence of the poorest of the poor in the country and the surrounding areas.

The other four provinces that the Department of Social Welfare and Development identified as the first batch of recipient provinces of the food coupons distribution program included: Eastern Samar, Cebu, Iloilo, and Maguindanao and Sultan Kudarat.

Remarks from a message of the National Food Authority to Camarines Sur, and the cooperation with the Department of Trade and Industry, the program agency has already been called with identifying commodity values where the 10,000 food coupons could be exchanged.

Arroyo said that a food coupon is worth P1,200 comprising of a set of 12 coupons distributed into P100 each that the beneficiaries could exchange for selected commodities in government stores.

He said the government guidelines have identified rice, cooking oil, mango/banana, eggplant, fish, sugar, soybeans, noodles, milk and other "nutritional food staples" as the only commodities the beneficiaries could exchange with the food coupon. Just Escobar Jr., PSN Southern Luzon Bureau

4-day holiday in ARMM declared

CORBALE CITY. Workers in the Autonomous Region in Muslim Mindanao (ARMM) will enjoy a four-day holiday after Gov. Hassan declared Nov. 12 a non-working holiday in the region.

"On Friday, Nov. 12, a non-working holiday in the ARMM would give ample time to Muslims faithful to prepare for the big fast month, which begins today and continues," Hassan said.

President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo has declared Nov. 11 a national non-working holiday in observance of the 50th day of the victory would actually take place on Saturday.

Hassan said Presidential Decree 1583 that recognized Eid al-Fitr as the end of the fasting season observed by Muslims worldwide is a non-working holiday in the house of the governor.

Undersecretary Catherine Aquino, executive director of the Office of Muslim Affairs, has called all Muslims in the country to mark this what they have done for the past month.

"The 30-day fasting gave us the opportunity to reflect on our faith and God's command to us to be kind to the less fortunate and the needy around us, in our manner of living," he said. Edwin S. Hernandez, PSN Mindanao Bureau

Pampanga quarry revenue falls

MEDCO, Pennsylvania—Only 77.9 million is half of this year's target revenue from Pennsylvania's quarry industry had been reported as of October, and one of the options to improve collections is partly putting the job out of the hands of the state under the contract of Gov. Mark Leland.

Malaysian exec to visit MILF, ceasefire team

Rats destroy P83M in Sarangani crops

By Aquiles Latorre
Philippines Bureau

GENERAL SAYSOS CITY—Rodrigo de averaged at least 300 million pesos of agricultural products in Sarangani province, a province official said.

Meanwhile, provincial council withdrew officers, and the figure represented the damage brought by rats from November 2008 until September this year.

Latorre said the provincial government has already dispatched technicians to assess losses affected by the infestation.

Of the worst losses affected by rodents, Malina was reportedly the most affected, followed by Sarangani.

Latorre, whose office participated in disaster relief aid in affected communities, said the infestation was concentrated in all stages of rice, palm and root crops planted in the affected areas.

Agribusiness officials said a sharp increase in the rat population in the province was first monitored early October last year.

Thus, they said, was triggered by excess weather conditions in the area.

Dead rat carcasses, especially before well during the onset of the dry season.

To contain the infestation, the provincial government launched an anti-rat campaign dubbed "Bantay Rat, Bantay Kita." Farmers were given 10 bags of rat poison for every 100 bags of rice to be given a kilo of milled rice.

DAWG CITY—Malaysia's Defense Minister Canali Saraghi has arrived in Davao City, the Mindanao Liberation Front said yesterday.

But Canali, MILF spokesman, said Saraghi, who is also deputy prime minister, would visit members of the MILF in the province to discuss the ceasefire between the groups, including the MILF.

Canali said Saraghi was expected to arrive "later on today" for "three to four" days in Davao City.

MILF has reached the end of the fighting month of November.

The Philippine News Agency, Manila's official news bureau, said Saraghi would also talk with government and MILF representatives during his visit.

Iskula Latorre is serving as a third country mediator between the government and the MILF.

"The ceasefire is another Philippine a building which means the two sides are becoming a model in improving the role of our military personnel," Iskula said in a statement.

Iskula said he has an idea yet another high would be taking up with representatives from both sides. (AP/Wide World) he is still among the great people," and never doubt that he will be remembered for his leadership.

It was of great quickly news across the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Grieving in the streets

Thousands ran into the streets, shaking his photograph, crying and expressing how they would survive without the man who led them through the struggle for freedom.

"He is our father," Nasser Abu-Halwa, 48, said, and adding in the Arabic language, "he is the father of the people."

Most people here during the war were from Gaza Strip, and many of them were killed in the war. Many of them were killed in the war.

The Palestinian Cabinet declared 40 days of mourning for Arafat, and the Al-Aqsa Martyrs' Brigades in Gaza, a militant group linked to Arafat's death, decided to change its name to the Martyrs' Brigades.

During the night, many people were seen in the streets, and many of them were killed in the war.

war, marking the first time in nearly three years he left his compound—where he had been held since captured by Israel. The signs of the aging leader being welcomed as a Jordanian, however, seemed many Palestinians would never return him.

Funeral service in Cairo

Arafat's body is to be flown Thursday evening from Paris to Cairo, where a funeral service is expected by foreign dignitaries will be held for him Friday morning.

The funeral service will be held in the headquarters in the Egyptian compound known as a mosque for burial later in the day.

Barak Palestinian leader is allowed to return, though they would have to pass through checkpoints. Only Arafat will be permitted to come from Gaza, a military source said, adding that Israel had information that some groups would use the funeral as a pretext for an attack.

Israeli Prime Minister Sharon, who has vowed to keep the peace process moving forward, said he would not attend the funeral. He said he would not attend the funeral.

'Fahrenheit' shut out of Globes

THE WINNERS—Co-winners of the Golden Globes have based the political documentary "Fahrenheit 9/11" from co-directors Michael Moore and Oliver Stone. The Hollywood Foreign Press Association (HFPA) has announced the Golden Globe nominations for 2004. Moore's religious movie, "The Passion of the Christ," which was released last year, was ineligible for the 19th annual ceremony. The HFPA does not accept religious documentaries.

"No for 'Fahrenheit,'" says Galt. It would be unfair to exclude Moore's documentary, the HFPA says. Moore's religious movie, "The Passion of the Christ," which was released last year, was ineligible for the 19th annual ceremony. The HFPA does not accept religious documentaries.

Expect higher consumer prices—Neda

By Maibela C. Bono

THE NATIONAL Economic and Development Authority has called on the public to brace for even higher consumer prices until December, as the increase in the cost of oil impacts on the prices of food, electricity and liquefied petroleum gas (LPG).

While inflation for the full year is expected to average at 5.7 percent, or much higher than the government's target of 4 to 5 percent, for November and December, inflation is expected to shoot up to a five-year high of more than 10 percent due to increases in the cost of oil.

Last October, inflation reached 7.1 percent, but the slide was not accelerating further in November and December because of a capital cost rise in the cost of some raw food items, which account for half of the consumer price index.

"A higher inflation is something people should expect. Price increases in the second semester of this year are also expected to be frontloaded in the first half of next year," NEDA Secretary General, head of NEDA's national planning and policy staff, said in a briefing yesterday.

The NEDA official said inflation for 2005 was expected to be at least 7 percent, or much higher than the 6 to 7 percent target set for the Ayala administration's Medium-Term Philippine Development Plan (MTPDP).

However, NEDA Director General Romulo Formoso said that was not a substitute for the government to implement price control measures because such a move would only lead to market distortions and could even aggravate the high inflation scenario.

He said what the government should do was to improve legal, tax and infrastructure to reduce

“When everything important to us is within reach,
we know we’ve made

Dr. Benjie Lora and daughter Ysabel
Ayala Westgrove Heights Homeowner

Growing up in the city, you simply get used to having everything within reach—schools, hospitals, shopping centers and public utilities. Everything is convenient and comfortable for you. That's why Benjie, a cardiologist, and his wife, Gussy, a flight attendant, initially had doubts of leaving their first home. But at the end of 2003, they decided to escape the apartment that has morphed into their 3-bedroom condominium in Pamp City. More importantly, factors in the area have greatly contributed to the worsening air pollution. "We were really thinking of our daughters," Gussy said. "We want them to grow up in a cleaner, safer community."

That's why they dreamed of living in a serene natural environment. A place with plenty of trees, hills and wide open spaces where their children can hold onto nature to give them the thoughts of moving far from the familiar confines of the city seemed impractical. Like many families, they have fallen into the "big city trap."

Then Benjie discovered Ayala Westgrove Heights through his daughter Ysabel's pre-school principal. "He had just bought a lot and was so happy with his purchase," he said. Ayala Westgrove Heights, after all, is designed to be a self-contained community, similar to Ayala Alabang. All the lands, they are surrounded by lush mango groves and rolling hills. A cool climate is also perfect for outdoor family activities. Amenities like the gym, clubhouse and children's playground are enough to keep them home for entire weekends. "My daughters used to miss our old place in the city. But that's not the case now. They love everything here... making up to beautiful stories, playing with birds and chickens, and picking mangos in our backyard," Gussy said.

The most important thing, of course, is the fact that it has the Ayala Land pedigree. After Ayala Alabang, Benjie knows that Ayala Westgrove Heights is the Next Big Thing. And as they begin to grow their family roots here, they know that the fruits of a wonderful future are simply within reach.

Fil-Hispano 'secrets'

A "SECRET" given and confidential" property of the SEC. Capital in PFI Hispanic secondary offering has been passed, despite its supposedly leaky track record, circles around the industry.

Before anyone gets hyperventilating, the prospectus had really been opened to the public "in private" sessions of the stock—this was from SEC Securities staff.

Unfortunately, somebody just forgot to ensure the private and confidential marking on SEC official document, unfortunately.

Trading of PFI Hispanic is suspended until new work on the situation of the private and confidential, but we get around of getting up the stock.

But what about picking up the interest of local investors in the stock talks about the prospectus of the new PFI Hispanic offering?

According to SEC Capital, PFI Hispanic is now being "backed by emerging regional shareholders" in the Costa Rica group of Malabar Group, Ricardo Krollman, apparently through the Hong Kong company that is making securities in additional 10 percent of PFI Hispanic shares in the public.

Krollman, for those who were here yesterday, just happens to be the richest man in Malaysia, last remembered for having built the Petronas Twin Towers in Kuala Lumpur. In addition to the Hong Kong company a number of minority shareholders were asked to be willing off a portion of their shareholdings to cover PFI Hispanic's public float in 18.5 percent.

"We will not be surprised if the local group is identified with function 'backing' financial & of SEC Securities, the latter behind the backdoor listing.

SEC Securities was reported to have received from PFI Hispanic USD 2 million in its investment banking and "value services," as well as the right to an underwritten property to be incorporated by the government for a proposed road.

The member Thailand's state, former Thai Petroleum and Commodities Unit Undersecretary Justice T. Lachuan, has been looking for him. How this position is really private and confidential.

PFI for Malaysians

SEC Capital, Malaysia, and SEC Securities will receive the good news of PFI stock in exchange for their respective shares in the listed insurance house for Asia (MIA) Capital Corp., according to a date equity map now being prepared by a securities commission chaired by former owner Ramon Reyes.

The Malaysia, the Philippines and the Taiwan are said to have already given their consent to the reorganization, which would transfer them by some negative shareholdings for a nominal amount to the insurance trust, who themselves will take a 47.5 percent share in the new share.

According to the prospectus, Hong Kong-based David Li of Bank of East Asia, who holds a 10 percent stake in the insurance house, has not yet to give his approval, with the Malaysia group unable to reach the 10 percent target required to complete.

The transfer of PFI to Malaysia has given the Malaysia group until Jan. 1 to secure the approval and execute a series of transactions, including the dropping of lawsuits, aimed at ensuring the insurance house's PFI Ltd. has facilities.

After the transfer, the Malaysia group plans to report additional working capital to raise to at least

Lorenzos to match bid for Del Monte

By Elizabeth S. Sanchez

THE LONGGOLD family, the PFI group shareholders in Singapore-based manufacturing firm Del Monte Pacific Inc. (DMP), spent on matching the bid for the 40 percent stake held by Italian foodmaker Cini Financieri (C-F).

The Longgolds, the second biggest shareholders of DMP, with a 23 percent stake, have the option to match the bid for the C-F's shares, which will be bid out this month.

"We are looking to buy the stake of the Italian. If the price is good enough, we will match the bid bid," DMP's managing director Matteo Lorenzos told reporters at the Philippines (PFI) forum at the Manila Shangri-La yesterday. DMP's total outstanding capital stock stands at 1,074 million shares, 70 percent would be roughly 430 million shares. Lorenzos said that as of Nov. 10, the 40 percent C-F stake was worth roughly $175 million, in matched prices.

Lorenzos said that should he finally succeed in raising to stake to DMP, to 10 percent, they would keep their primary in Singapore.

DMP's intention to be a big deal for Lorenzos for last 2003. I think we are on the right track. We will be you, we will be yours, we will be yours. Every time the company changes, it will be for us," Lorenzos said.

San Miguel Corp. (SMC), the country's largest food and beverage firm, is looking for C-F's 40 percent interest along with San Miguel Corp. of Japan and American company L.J. Ito Co. and French Del Monte Pacific Inc., the company that controls the group's primary shareholders. Final offers are expected by the end of November.

Economists expect agriculture sector to grow by 5% in third quarter

THE COUNTRY'S agriculture sector in the third quarter is expected to perform no better than the previous quarter, with the growth rate predicted to be anywhere between 4.5 to 5 percent, economists predict here.

In spite of fiscal problems and the high cost of fertilizers, the agriculture sector still managed to realize a modest growth, as rice, sugar and corn growers posted good production surplus during the period, the economists said.

In the second quarter, the sector posted only 7 percent growth.

"Hopefully, the agriculture sector could bounce back in the last quarter," said Dr. Rolando Uy of the University of Asia and the Pacific.

But according to University of the Philippines economist Dr. Francisco Serrin, the sector's recorded 4 to 5 percent growth could pull down the nation's economic output.

Agriculture's performance is closely being watched by the country's economists since the sector makes up about a 10% of the country's total economic output.

The Department of Agriculture will issue the third quarter report next week. (Evelyn A. Ocampo)

It's time to give credit to the products that help me maintain my locks in tiptop shape

No more bad-hair days

EITHER a group of friends conspired to e-mail me the same concern, or it was a major sign. Seven people wrote me in a span of two days begging for an article on hair products.

Well, I thought about it and realized that the last time I had a haircut was June of this year. But I've hardly had a bad-hair day since, so it's time to give credit to the products that help me maintain my locks in tiptop shape.

Oréal Studio's Frêne and Out of Bed have been road-tested by my male friends who refuse to spend a fortune on hair products, much more walk into a salon to purchase them. They have since repurchased a tube of Frêne and a tub of Out of Bed to manipulate their hairstyles.

Those who want the standing-hair style look prefer Out of Bed, and those who are more conservative who just want to keep their hair in place choose Frêne.

The great news is, the cost is definitely under P500 (ranging from P180-P490) and the products are widely available in groceries and drugstores.

For frizz control and greater shine, the best treatments are The Body Shop's Grapeseed serum, Oréal Professional's Liss Extreme and Shine-perfecting leave-in-serum and Physilisse ultra shine.

For hair with fly-away, damaged ends, try Kerastase's Lait Nutri-sculpt, which is great for dry and sensitized hair; Tigi Bed Head's Split Ends Mender and Body Shop's Bilberry Leave-In Detangler both smell great and leave hair looking healthy and fabulous.

Now, when it comes to a shampoo-conditioner that makes hair look and smell great, you won't go wrong with Tigi Bed Head's Control Freak S&C, especially if you have coarse, frizzy hair: It leaves hair smelling like sweet buttery pineapples.

To add shine to backluster hair, get hold of TBS Olive S&C. To volumize fine and limp hair, on the other hand, Decoteur Artemisia shampoo and conditioner (applied to ends only) and Lush Big shampoo and Re-tread conditioner are the best bets. Get

Know your water to choose the right shampoo

LUSH, creator of fresh handmade cosmetics, has crafted products to help little luxury tricks achieve the best effects.

To best care for your hair, it is important to know your water as it has the most impact on the shampoo you use and its effects. Lush has the right product for the kind of water you use.

In hard water areas, you are more of a product to try to get a good lather on your hair, as it is difficult to wash out all the shampoo or conditioner.

Lush has two exclusive shampoos: one for hard water (LUSH for H2O), the other for soft water (LUSH for H2O).

Lush also has a solid shampoo bar for children. Lush of New York, parent product, is a solid size shampoo. It is rich in essential oils, does not contain harsh, and has blends of nourishing almond, avocado and jojoba oil as well as natural botanicals for plumped up, soft and shiny-looking skin. The bar can be used in the shower for a light moisture effect.

Lush, exclusively distributed by Source Specialty, Inc., has boutiques at Chelsea 4, Times Plaza West, Morgan La Bell and Greenwich 2. Visit www.lush.com for more information.

Color me pretty

Vibrant colors are a wonderful way to brighten your disposition, add humor and bring cheer to any occasion.

MOST people build their wardrobe based on neutral colors like black, khaki, gray or white. Such items are safe and practical, but to mention easy to mix and match and update with more vivid accent pieces.

But on the flip side, neutral colors can also be boring. To break away from the tendency to stick with basic day in and day out, update your wardrobe and inject a dose of dressing by wearing colorful pieces that are fun and interesting. Do as you see: incorporate your colors. Choose a bright shirt top such as a lemon-yellow top to match with neutral bottoms. Or if you're in need of change and a little excitement, why not go wild by combining a burst of color? A top blue vest and a baby pink skirt, for

Priscilla, queen of Earth

Text by Alex Y. Vargas

HER name may remind you of that has-been blond star, but Priscilla "Pi" de Almeida Mendes is certainly no bimbo. Never mind if the winsome 21-year-old has already played and won in almost a dozen beauty contests, the biggest of which is Miss Earth.

The Brazilian beauty has a charcoal and tan photo which the judges do not even read and describe as one of them.

"She's been sitting on that since I came," she says in over-exaggeration, when asked if she's willing to give her photo for a try. "I wouldn't sell."

Well, it's not every day Filipinos are treated to the sight of a tall and tan and, well, young and lovely Latin. That star's attitude and sunny smile and girlish with a ready smile the same makes her all the more desirable. And the last part is the extra bonus in person (especially in a restaurant) than in pictures.

Future doctor

But, so thinks, as Pi plans to become, but a select ones that interest in her nation. After all, a huge question is the American beauty world of Brazil. She wants to be a doctor.

Born in Brazil, she won Queen of the Sun in Colombia and Miss Globe in Turkey. She almost made it to the Miss Universe pageant last year, losing fourth runner up to the local search.

But Miss Earth will be Pi's main goal, as she promised to leave the beauty pageant circuit for good to focus on her career.

"I want to pursue my career... surgery," she says in her limited English. "I can work as a nurse if I like."

Her major now for Pi is in the University of the Philippines, but she currently speaks a better than the average Filipino. To back the Portuguese-speaking Pi, married learning English and Spanish is a necessity.

"I hardly have any free time," she sighs. "I spend most of my time studying in the morning and working out and going to English and Spanish classes at night."

And there may be more about beauty, she adds, but they hardly care about beauty contests. From the perspective of Pi, beauty contests are just a way to earn money, but she is not in it for the money. In fact, she says, there were a number of times when she chose not to attend. Instead, why not attend school?

pristine TV when you can have a better view of men during women in beauty contests at the Rio de Janeiro carnival. And if the average woman looks like Pi, then beauty contests have indeed become superfluous.

"She's a long time," says Pi, "nobody paid attention to beauty pageants. It started to change again because the girls are doing a good job."

Big welcome

It's her mother's response upon seeing her in any situation. Pi is in her big welcome. She accompanied Pi to the Philippines during the earlier part of the pageant, but had to go about soon after her daughter was crowned.

"I love my very big," she laughs, referring to her comparison to Miss Universe. "When my mother came back, everybody recognized her. They had a party and took pictures of my mom and my special awards."

But Pi kept her calm and took with her, as she's in waiting that she's a beauty's welcome upon her much-awaited homecoming. The last thing she heard, a few weeks ago, was that she's been confirmed to carry her on a national scale all over the city.

Of all the rights in the Philippines, she's the biggest in her country. Besides, the beauty is a closer to her part of Brazil, but the view of mountains is something else.

She has nothing but praise for Pi's spirit. But before it is so, as Pi, she's more than had the chance to share her as far.

Search Pi's name is starting to become more when it comes to women every birthday. Pi is also a "princess" she has a boyfriend waiting for her back home.

"It's something that's kind of like a challenge," she says already. "He didn't come here to watch the show because he's working, but he's proud and happy and everything."

Not only does she have something between her eyes, but pretty women is also there. This year's Miss Earth is a prize worth having.

And for this season, judgingly, I couldn't say no to an invite to the city's exclusive Tower Club on Ryea Avenue, for a party to honor the super model/biochemist.

one factor and the other half," explained the club's founder, Steve Lerner.

When Lerner founded the club, the POC's founding state and first president, walked in, she got a standing ovation.

The club was all about going, about helping others.

A businessman was complaining about his wife's excessive drinking. "I think she drinks to forget the drinks," he said. "In fact, there are three she drinks so much alcohol, then I'm afraid to let her drink."

Well, perhaps, I think it's time she gets a job.

Spending time

Ivana is a great, beautiful "mom" Lerner, a top professional Lerner's founder who goes all over the world, one of the guests of honor at a club's 10th anniversary party recently announced. Lerner's personality, Lerner's history, at the time, Lerner's wife is Dr. Tangle, Lerner is the wife of the 10th anniversary party.

Another founder at the dinner was Steve Lerner, co-wife of Donald T. Lerner was said to have delighted the guests with her stories and comments, adding spice to the already hot party.

Ivana why she falls in love with people, she answered, "I think, I'm so much better for a husband than a man."

Yes, she is primarily involved with a person before she is in his life.

Meanwhile, I asked the usually outgoing Lerner for more details about the party and he obliged with another of his super stories. "While we were discussing about people and people just (about it, Tangle and Chica de Lerner are beautiful) from me," "Well, it's like, I'm not a 100% it, I'm not."

Ivana's private life. He wonders she got a list from which she derived Donald Tangle. It's like Steve has just moved back to home for a couple of days to discuss the building of his super business house in Lerner. It is also one of the several houses of Lerner's and Chica Tangle, who will both celebrate their birthday on the island, perhaps.
